

Hans Raich, Dr., MSc.Econ, D.T.M&M.P., Dipl.Comm.H.

Gesundheitssystem-Spezialist in Länder & HQ-Büros von mehreren großen IOs, NGOs sowie Missionen in mehr als zwei Dutzend Ländern über einen Zeitraum von ca. zwanzig Jahren

Health systems expert for different major IOs, NGOs & missions at country/head offices in more than two dozen countries for about twenty years

Educational pathway for health system recovery in developing and disaster prone countries

The economic & political crises in many developing countries as well as natural disasters and civil conflict have increased public health risks for their respective population. The health system expert advises and assists Governments and MOHs in emergency preparedness by promoting the development of national policies and measures to be adopted to prevent or reduce the damage caused by disasters of any type. S/He ensures appropriate linkages between emergency health activities and national health programs.

LSE & LSHTM (UK): MSc Health Policy, Planning and Financing

This is a joint master program provided by LSE & LSHTM, which aims to develop critical analysis of issues within health policy, planning & financing, and formulate appropriate health policy responses. It provides training relevant to countries at all levels of development, and participants may specialise in issues of common concern to countries with similar health systems and problems. It is envisioned for students with a wide range of backgrounds including: social science or medical training; health service managers or health care providers as well as those who have worked in national health care systems, international agencies or NGOs.

BNI for Tropical Medicine, Hamburg (DE): Diploma Course for Tropical Medicine

Aim of the course is to prepare physicians to work in tropical and subtropical regions.

Institute for Public Health, University of Heidelberg (DE): Certificate Medicine in Developing Countries

Practice-oriented course directed to medical experts who intend to work within health systems overseas.

Career opportunities

Graduates from these courses usually work for governments, international agencies, NGOs and the private sector as health policy-makers, researchers, advisers or work in advocacy or training.
